

INFORMATION RETRIEVAL

HOMEWORK EXERCISES L11. QUERIES AND SESSIONS

SUZAN VERBERNE 2022

EXERCISE 1

- Extract and show the following basic statistics from the data:
  - a. The number of unique queries
  - b. The top-10 most frequent queries
  - c. The top-10 most clicked URLs

EXERCISE 1 - SOLUTION

- 1a. number of unique queries:
  - only event_type = “q”: 21559; all: 21810
- 1b. top-10 most frequent queries and 1c. top-10 most clicked URLs

Top 10 most frequent queries:

607	seks
571	forum
550	sex
484	anaal
474	zwanger
375	vreemdgaan
361	trio
345	pijpen
307	vakantie
234	sauna

EXERCISE 2

- Create a matrix with as rows each of the top-10 most frequent queries, as columns the clicked URLs occurring in the data for the top-10 queries, and as cell values the click count for the query on the URL
  - Hint: don't use the top-10 URLs but all clicked URLs for the top-10 queries (number of columns is much higher than 10)
- For each query pair in the top-10 queries, calculate the cosine similarity between the queries using the matrix of click counts
  - Hint: one row in the matrix is a vector representing one query information
- Show a 10-by-10 matrix with the top-10 queries as rows and columns and a cosine similarity score in each cell.
  - Hint: the diagonal will be all 1s.

EXERCISE 2 - SOLUTION

Cosine similarity between queries

- matrix should have queries as rows and columns and show cosine similarities ( $[0..1]$ ) between queries
